Peace Efforts In China Fail

U.S. Embassy Will Remain In Nanking

Nanking, Jan. 27—(AP)—Evident breakdown of Chinese government efforts to make a surrender deal with the Reds, turned the flight from Nanking into a panic tonight.

It was learned reliably, however, that U. S. Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart would stay in this Communist-menaced capital, "on instructions from Washington."

Only a small party led by Minister Lewis Clark is due to join the government in its transfer to Canton. "The government has reported it expects to be functioning in Canton by Feb. 5."

Others To Follow U. S.
All other diplomatic missions except the Soviet bloc are expected to follow the American example.

Reflecting the personal convictions of diplomats that the government no longer represents the Chinese people, their decision to stay in Nanking is a profound diplomatic reversal for the government.

In Shanghai the commander of the U. S. Western Pacific fleet said some marines soon would be withdrawn from China, but emphasized that enough would remain to meet any emergency.

Vice Adm. Oscar C. Badger told a news conference the present numbers (about 3,000 at Tsingtao and 600 at Shanghai) were more than needed. The admiral also confirmed previous reports that the marines at Tsingtao "to some degree" were being withdrawn from shore billets to shipboard. He said no port facilities in Shanghai also would be drastically reduced.

To Protect Americans
Badger reiterated that navy policy still was to maintain sufficient forces in China to protect Americans and "insofar as able"—other foreigners.

In Nanking, Gen. Chang Chi-chung, a leader of the government's peace delegation, announced he was flying to Lanchow in the far north-west to discharge his official duties as commander there "during the lull in peace negotiations."

"This deepened the pessimism in Nanking over the chances of settling with the Communists. All observers were becoming more and more convinced that the prospects were hopeless."

Premier Sun Fo and Foreign Minister Wu Te-chen flew to Shanghai, ostensibly to seek the peace support of non-government leaders, but nobody believed this reason.

Nationals Prepared
Gen. Teng Wen-yi, official military spokesman, charged the Communists with "insincerity" about peace and told a news conference the government was "fully prepared to resist any attack on the Yangtze cities."

This only enhanced the panicky exodus from Nanking. Streets were jammed with all sorts of conveyances headed for the railway station leading to Shanghai.

Thousands stood scant chance of escaping, for rail congestion was so great that dozens of trains were reported stranded all along the 193-mile line to Shanghai. Some travelers who arrived from Shanghai said the trip took 48 hours.

Latest military reports in Nanking said the Communist armies were deploying "just north of the Yangtze from points 60 miles south-west to 35 miles northeast of Nanking."

Stevenson Reports 55 Names Trimmed Off State Payroll

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 27—(AP)—Governor Stevenson's office announced today that 55 names have been trimmed from the Illinois Commerce Commission payroll since late December.

A spokesman for the governor said all the jobs would not be filled immediately.

Twenty-two of the dismissals took effect last Dec. 31—ten days before Stevenson, a democrat, succeeded former Republican Governor Green.

The other 33 dismissals came following Stevenson's inauguration Jan. 10 and are effective next Monday.

The spokesman said the discharge list was prepared by John D. Biggs, holder of commission chairman, at the request of Joseph Knight, an aide to Stevenson.

One of the persons dismissed was former GOP Congressman Stephen A. Day of Evanston, listed as a field executive at $300 a month.

SWISS POOL PLANES
Bern, Switzerland, Jan. 27—(AP)—A Swiss trade delegation to London has been authorized to buy some $11,500,000 worth of British planes and military equipment, it was reported today.

Russia Assails U.S. Measures In Jap Economic Recovery

Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—Russia today assailed new measures ordered by the United States to restore Japan's economy, and demanded that the steps be reviewed by all the wartime Pacific allies.

Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin charged the U. S. with bypassing the 11-nation Far Eastern Commission when the measures were ordered into effect last month.

After Panyushkin presented his demand at a closed-door session of the commission, the State Department countered quickly with a defense of the order and the way it was put into effect. Officials noted the order had been on file with the commission for six weeks and that it was subject to review at any time.

There was no immediate action by the commission, although the matter could be considered at a later meeting.

The Soviet complaint was directed at an order issued by the State and Army Departments to require Japanese government to tighten its price, wage and other controls. The stated object was to halt inflation and increase exports.

Royall Asks Raise In Standing Army To 837,000 Men

Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—Army Secretary Royall cautioned congressmen today that while war is not imminent, it is "at least a possibility."

Accordingly, he told the House armed services committee, the nation must keep its defenses "adequate for each changing situation."

Royall, together with Gen. Omar Bradley, the army chief of staff, endorsed a proposal pending before the committee to authorize an 837,000-man army.

The same bill would authorize a 70-group air force.

Each proposed limit, however, amounts to little more than a figure on a piece of paper, because of budget limitations.

Royall said the army now has 690,000 officers and men, and plans to go no higher in the next fiscal year which begins July 1. President Truman's 1950 budget would set a 48-group ceiling on the air force.

However, if the new authorizations were written into law, all congressmen would have to do to make them mean something would be to appropriate more money.

Living Costs Drop For Third Month In Row In U.S.

Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—The government reported a drop in living costs for the third straight month today.

Simultaneously, President Truman disclosed that his economic general staff is making a special study of falling food prices—perhaps for their effect on his request for price control powers.

Cheaper foods again led the way in the cost-of-living decline. But the over-all picture showed prices are still 28 per cent higher than OPA-controlled levels in 1946.

The consumers price index, compiled by the U. S. Bureau of labor statistics, showed a drop of eight-tenths of one point for the month of December.

The index at that time—the latest official figure—stood at 171.4, compared with a "par" of 100 for the 1925-39 price average. In August and September, the index had reached an all-time peak of 174.5.

Reds Say Western Blockade Slowing Their Production

Berlin, Jan. 27—(AP)—A German communist leader acknowledged today the western counter blockade is slowing production in Russian-held Germany.

In a pep-talk to a socialist unity (communist) party conference, deputy chairman Walter Ulbricht said 1948 production "though making some gains over the previous year, fell short of targets from 15 to 25 per cent in the heavy industries."

Moscow-trained Ulbricht blamed the western allies' counter blockade for shutting off Ruhr coal, iron and steel and machine parts and chemicals.

JURY WILL NOT INDICT 11-YEAR-OLD KILLER

Denver, Jan. 27—(AP)—The Denver county grand jury today held 11-year-old Martin Rasmick "cannot distinguish between good and evil" and refused to indict him for slaying his father.

Attorneys said this cleared the way for the boy to be sent to a special institution for rehabilitation.

Detectives said the lad admitted stabbing his father, Clayton, 48, to death Jan. 2 after an argument over his smoking cigarettes and doing household chores.

Flood Dangers Rise In State

Fear Break In Wabash River Levee

Centrolia, Ill., Jan. 27—(AP)—New trouble spots developed in southern Illinois as the flood-swollen Ohio river and its tributaries continued to rise tonight. It has been raining almost continually for six days, and the downpours continued.

A special detail of 20 state policemen were sent to the Mt. Carmel area to aid in rescue work. Several hundred had been forced from their lowland homes in that area.

Boats Are Ready
Health department nurses and sanitary engineers were on duty at Murphysboro and other communities. Conservation department officials had men ready with boats at various points ready for emergency calls.

At least eight major highways in lower Illinois were closed because of flood waters.

A government meteorologist at Evansville, Ind., forecast Ohio river stages of 49 feet sometime next week at Uniontown, Ky., and Shawneetown, Ill. He added that "continuing heavy rains make it impossible to predict any definite crests."

Shawneetown is protected by a 52-foot seawall. The Shawneetown ferry service to Kentucky halted operation today.

60 Families Routed
The Little Wabash continued to rise at Carmi, where 80 families had been routed from their homes. Six more families fled homes in that area today. The river flooded a portion of much-traveled U. S. highway 460 linking St. Louis and Louisville.

Illinois state police expressed fear of a break in a Wabash river levee protecting thousands of acres and an undetermined number of farm homes near Maunie, Ill., ten miles southeast of Carmi. A break in that levee also would flood tracks of the Louisville and Nashville railroad.

Three more families were evacuated at Mt. Carmel, bringing to 40 the number of families forced from their homes in that area. River bottom oil operations were suspended.

Rivers 5 Miles Wide
A five-mile expanse of water formed by the flooding Wabash, White and Patoka rivers stretched from the Mt. Carmel bluff to the Indiana side.

The Kaskaskia river, two feet above flood stage, spread over thousands of acres north of Vandalia in Fayette county but no homes were affected. Backwaters of the Middle Fork creek flooded 12 families from homes in an outlying section of West Frankfort. Several families evacuated homes in the Lawrenceville area where the Embarras river was spilling out of its banks.

At Cairo, Ill., the Ohio river was expected to climb to the 52-foot stage next week but the city is protected by a 60-foot embankment. The river was at 47 feet there today, seven feet above flood stage.

Cease Publication Of New York Star For Lack Of Funds

New York, Jan. 27—(AP)—The New York Star will cease publication with tomorrow's edition, it was announced tonight.

An announcement to the newspaper's readers, signed by Bartley C. Crum, publisher, and Joseph Barnes, editor, said:

"To our great regret, this will be the last issue of the Star. Its first issue was published on June 23, 1948. At that time, we promised to publish a liberal newspaper in New York with sound professional standards, and to edit it for men and women who believe in the future of America."

In these seven months the paper has grown in circulation and in advertising. But it is not yet on a self-supporting basis, and our efforts to secure additional financing to bridge the gap have been unsuccessful."

B-29 With 15 Men Aboard Is Missing

London, Jan. 27—(AP)—An American B-29 bomber with 15 men aboard is missing on a 3,000-mile flight from Dakar, French West Africa, to its base in England, U. S. Air Force headquarters announced tonight.

Authorities said the plane "definitely is down somewhere."

RAF and U. S. Air Force planes were ordered into the search.

The B-29 left Dakar at 1:20 p. m. GMT (1:20 p. m. CST) Wednesday and was due at Marham, Eng., its base, at 9:30 a. m. (3:40 a. m. CST) today, the Air Force said.

It had a fuel supply for about 20 hours' flight, but would have exhausted this by mid-afternoon.

PLANS BEDROOM THAT GROWS WITH FAMILY

Chicago, Jan. 27—(AP)—The one bedroom home that can grow up with the family was proposed today as the housing answer for a couple with average income.

William H. Scheick of the University of Illinois small homes council said the basic requirements for such a home is that expansion must be structurally possible by adding simple wings or by completing attic space.

He made the suggestion in an article in Savings and Loan News, official publication of the United States Savings and Loan league.

Cabinet Weighs Revolt In Labor Party Over Bevin

London, Jan. 27—(AP)—Britain's labor cabinet weighed today the revolt within the labor party against its Palestine policy, and signs foreign secretary Bevin is determined to ride out the storm.

A source close to the cabinet said Britain probably will extend recognition to Israel before the laborites hold their next parliamentary meeting next Wednesday and that this may help to kill off the intra-party squabble.

"Will Bevin go?" asked a headline in Lord Beaverbrook's daily express, independent and imperialist newspaper. The question was echoed elsewhere in the press and in the lower ranks of the government itself. The answer seemed to be: Not right now, anyway.

Bevin was absent when the cabinet gathered with Prime Minister Attlee at No. 10 Downing street to talk over the foreign secretary's future and the party's future course.

He went instead to a London conference of the five Brussels pact powers—Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—which is expected to help pave the way for Britain to recognize Israel.

Says Giving Cities State Utility Tax Unconstitutional

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 27—(AP)—Proposals to give cities the state utility tax proceeds are "out the window," the chairman of a legislative commission studying revenue problems said today.

Senator Merritt J. Little (R-Aurora) said his group has been advised by legal experts that the tax diversion plan, amounting to $14,000,000 a year for cities, is not constitutional.

However, A. L. Sargent, executive secretary of the Illinois Municipal League, said his attorneys don't agree with the commission on the legal question. The league is backing the plan.

Bills to carry out the utility proposal are pending in the legislature. They were introduced by three House minority Republicans.

Under the measures, cities would be permitted to collect and retain that portion of the three percent utility sales levy assessed within their boundaries.

Three Fliers Bail Out To Safety As Plane Crashes

Madison, Wis., Jan. 27—(AP)—A twin-engine air force B-25 crashed on a farm near Brooklyn, Wis., tonight, shortly after its crew of three parachuted to safety.

The Dane county sheriff's office said the light bomber struck about 300 feet from the Sam Alme farmhouse, some 20 miles north of here.

A severe snowstorm was hampering highway travel, but sheriff's officers said Alme had talked with the three crewmen and that none of them was hurt.

Alme told the sheriff he saw the plane pass over his farm, obviously in trouble. It crashed seconds later just 300 feet from his house.

There was no immediate indication of the cause of the crash.

SAILORS TEST TROPIC CONDITIONS
Singapore—(P)—Twenty sailors from the Royal naval base here are acting as human guinea pigs for tropical weather condition tests.

The sailors' volunteers carry out various physical tasks in a research laboratory at the College of Medicine.

A navy spokesman explained: "The basic idea is to reproduce conditions that can occur aboard ships in tropical waters."

The naval guinea pigs work from eight a. m. to five p. m. every day in the laboratory.

Hear 'Axis Sally' Records At Trial Of Miss Gillars

Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—The wartime voice of "Axis Sally" beaming Nazi propaganda to American homes—echoed with dramatic impact at the treason trial of Mildred E. Gillars today.

Listening with no outward sign of emotion, the Maine-born defendant heard a playback of broadcasts she allegedly made from Hitler Germany.

If convicted, Miss Gillars faces a maximum penalty of death in the electric chair. She has pleaded innocent.

"This is Berlin calling . . . Berlin calling the American mothers, wives and sweethearts," the voice began in cheerful, intimate tones after a prelude of music.

Chief Prosecutor John M. Kelly, Jr., said the first broadcast played in the crowded federal courtroom was recorded by U. S. government monitors between 9 and 9:33 p. m. May 18, 1943.

The voice—identified by a government witness as the voice of Miss Gillars—went on to explain to American listeners the "reason for my being here in Berlin" and "why I'm not sitting at home with you at the little sewing bees knitting socks for our men over in French North Africa."

Congress Votes $500,000 Relief Fund For Storms

Washington, Jan. 27—(P)—Moving with record speed, congress today voted a $500,000 relief fund for the snowbound West and set to work immediately on another measure which may boost the storm chest another $3,000,000.

While clear weather speeded rescue operations in parts of the stricken area, there was a new blizzard in Nebraska, sleet storms elsewhere, and flood threats along the Ohio river. These added fresh urgency to the following actions in the capital:

1. President Truman told a news conference he was asking congress for a new $1,000,000 emergency disaster fund. He said the $500,000 fund congress appropriated last year was down to $50,000. He has allocated $300,000 of it in the last few days for relief work in the western states.

2. Shortly after the White House announcement the House voted unanimously to add $500,000 to the disaster fund and sent the appropriation measure to the Senate.

3. Two hours later the Senate approved the $500,000 bill and sent it to the White House for the President's signature.

Arrest Former Red Spy Ring Leader Of Canada In N.Y.

New York, Jan. 27—(AP)—Sam Carr, alleged co-leader of a one-time Russian spy ring in Canada, was arrested today by the F. B. I. He is wanted on espionage charges in Canada.

Carr was named by a Royal Espionage commission three years ago as one of two Canadian ring-leaders of a Russian spy ring. He held the post of organizing secretary of the Canadian communist party.

A Canadian justice department official said the 42-year-old Carr probably would be tried in Toronto on accusations he violated the official secrets act.

Carr was picked up at a basement apartment on the west side of Manhattan at 115 West 74th street, near Central park. The F. B. I. said he had occupied the apartment two weeks and had been the object of an intensive hunt since he disappeared from Canada in March, 1946.

Fred Rose, former communist member of parliament, was the other alleged ringleader in the spy network. He is serving a six-year prison term for violation of the official secrets act.

CIO Group Joins St. Louis AFL Teamsters' Union

St. Louis, Jan. 27—(AP)—Six thousand members of the CIO United Distribution Union, representing warehouse and store employees in the St. Louis area, have gone over to the AFL Teamsters' Union.

A joint statement said the CIO group is "merging" with local 688 of the teamsters to establish in St. Louis a Teamsters' local in warehouse and allied fields of 7,000 members.

Harold J. Gibbons, director of the former CIO union, will head the new group. The statement said that Lawrence J. Camie, secretary-treasurer of the AFL local and a leader in directing teamster affairs here for many years, is retiring.

The move is believed to be the first major coup in the teamsters' nationwide drive to double their membership to 2,000,000.

Truman Hits Mass Eviction

CONTINUE 'OPERATION SNOWBOUND' IN NEB.

Chicago, Jan. 27—(AP)—Weasels, D-7 angle dozers and snow-trucks—some of Fifth Army's best snow-fighting equipment—are waging "operation snowbound" in northern Nebraska.

The army already had 57 big dozers, 29 weasels and an unreported number of snow-trucks on the job in the disaster area.

Another 46 bulldozers are reported en route to the snow-clogged sector, with 60 heavy angle dozers standing by for shipment from Granite City, Ill.

Power, Christian Wed While Italian Bobby-Soxers Yell

Rome, Jan. 27—(AP)—Tyronne Power and Linda Christian said their marriage vows today while thousands of screaming Italian bobby-soxers surged riotously across police lines outside the church of Santa Francesca Romana. It was Hollywood-on-the-Tiber's show of the year.

So great was the din that the words of the marriage ceremony scarcely could be heard in the fifth row of the church. Even the guests were none too orderly.

In the crush outside the church, several women fainted and a man's finger was broken. A number of other persons were bruised. There were reports that Vatican prelates were incensed at the atmosphere.

The marriage of the film stars gave hundreds of Rome's policemen their busiest day since the rioting that followed an attempt to assassinate communist leader almirante Togliatti last July. Twice during the ceremony groups of determined teen-age girls charged the church doors, trying to get in. There were more than 10,000 in the unruly throng.

Poorer, 34-year-old veteran of scores of movie mob scenes, was calm throughout the pushing and heaving that attended his arrival and departure at the little church in the heart of ancient Rome.

Prisoners Remain Locked In Cells For Second Day

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 27—(AP)—More than 1,400 of Stateville prison's convicts remained locked in their cells today after conducting noisy demonstrations for the second night in a row.

Warden Joseph E. Ragen said part of the more than 1,400 convicts who were locked up after an uproar in the dining room Tuesday night booted, shouted, and beat and snook their cell doors from 8 until 10 p. m. last night.

Most of the shouts, he said, were "get rid of Ragen." He said he didn't believe more than 200 convicts participated, although all 1,400 are in the same cell house.

The convicts were locked up after shouting and beating dining tables Tuesday night, Ragen said, so he could "weed out and remove the agitators and trouble-makers" before some real difficulty is experienced. "They will remain locked up until they can be screened," he said. He added the process would take about two weeks.

Storm relief: He asked congress for a new $1,000,000 disaster relief fund "to be used in part to meet critical conditions" arising from snow storms in western states.

Prices—the council of economic advisers is getting up a report on food price declines. Until it reaches him he will not comment on what effect if any these reductions may have on his request for standby price control power.

He still thinks steel prices are too high. This was in reply to a request for comment on action by the U. S. Steel corporation in declaring a special $1 dividend and a stock split up.

Polls—he still has no more confidence in public opinion polls than he had before the election. He was informed a Gallup poll indicated he now had 60 per cent of the people behind him and asked if that changed his opinion about accuracy of such tests.

He gave his negative answer and added he personally always gathers the facts in making decisions as to what is right or wrong. Polls have no effect on him whatever, he declared.

Says Owners Will Not Get Away With It

Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—The Truman administration today launched a drive against a revolt of landlords who threaten mass evictions of tenants as a protest against rent control legislation.

Soon after President Truman deplored the landlord's actions at his news conference, Housing Expediter Tighe Woods announced that he would seek court injunctions against any landlords who refuse to withdraw the eviction notices.

Mr. Truman told reporters he doesn't believe the property owners will get away with their plans.

He termed such efforts a poor approach to the problem.

He made his comment at a news conference when a reporter said landlords in St. Louis are considering giving 60-day notices to renters, as have property owners in other cities.

Bills to extend the federal rent control law and to tighten its enforcement provisions are pending in congress. The house will take up the question first.

Mr. Truman showed he had been reading about the landlord uprising when he noted that the eviction movement started in Tulsa, Okla., which he termed that great oil center.

Other cities reporting similar movements planned or under consideration include Chicago, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Milwaukee, Kansas City and Dallas.

In Tulsa, Rep. Patman (D-Tex) was reported to have told Tulsa and Dallas property owners by telephone that the landlord revolt "will be stopped by the courts."

Murphy Is Puzzled
At Tulsa, the Rev. Wallace J. Murphy, a leader of the property owners' revolt, said he was puzzled by President Truman's remarks.

"We are American businessmen," he said. "We simply want to go out of business. It is unprofitable." Some property owners insisted they had a right under the law to withdraw properties from the market on 60-day notice.

Other subjects dealt with by the president today:

Point four in his inaugural address: He said his proposal to assist backward areas in the world is part of administration policy for the next four years. It will have to be carried out gradually.

He has asked Secretary of State Acheson and other interested officials to work out preliminary plans for the new global project. Interested foreign governments understand the plan, he said, adding that only the newspapers seem to be confused about it.

He said the idea originated with him and others in the government about two or three years ago.

Asks Storm Relief
Storm relief: He asked congress for a new $1,000,000 disaster relief fund "to be used in part to meet critical conditions" arising from snow storms in western states.

WHEN ECONOMIZERS QUARREL

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

The comptroller general of the United States, Lindsay C. Warren, is steamed up. It is rumored that the Hoover commission favors the shift of some of Mr. Warren's functions to other agencies. This doesn't suit the official who has been hailed "the veritable oracle of all who would tighten up and modernize the machinery of government. So Mr. Warren fires back.

He calls the Hoover group "off-campus professors and advisers." Unless its other ideas are better, says he, its labors will prove "a waste of public funds." After more such remarks, he concludes that his general accounting office is congress' watchdog, so its life and habits are none of the Hoover commission's business.

This is very confusing. Here is Mr. Warren, the oracle of efficiency and economy, and here are the staid ex-president and associates who are apostles of those same virtues, but the kinship does not make them companionable. To add to the confusion, it was Mr. Warren who once said that he expects "loud yelps and snarls" from wounded bureaucrats, "but that is always true when powers are curbed and consolidations made." Yet when Mr. Hoover's off-campus advisers hint that maybe a smaller-size shoe will fit his official foot, he yelps and snarls.

What is to be though when the money-savers assail one another so sorely? Can't they somehow bury the hatchet, and not in one another.

By Hal Boyle

Montgomery, Ala.—(AP)—A boisterous, rusty giant of the earth has set this cradle of the confederacy rocking again.

Two years after they put him into the governor's chair on a tidal wave of votes, Alabama folks still don't know what to make of Big Jim Folsom.

Some think he is a dangerous demagogue. Some dismiss him as an overgrown county clown on a political spree, whose antics jolt the fame of fair Alabama. Others regard him as a kind of twentieth century Andy Jackson, raised up by the people to save them from the "Got Rocks"—the financial masters.

As of now, Big Jim perhaps does not quite fit any of these pigeon-holes. But any comparison with Andrew Jackson flatters him tremendously.

"My hero is Andy Jackson—past, present and future," said.

"And I believe like he did. Andy said, 'to the victor belong the spoils.' What he meant by that was 'to the people belong the victory.'"

Most laughed at talked about. "If he had just meant that the victor grabbed the spoils, Andy would have sold himself to the 'Got Rocks.' Well, he didn't sell out. And Big Jim ain't going to either."

The 6-foot-8-inch, 265-pound governor is the most laughed at, talked about man in the south today.

Even those who have a strong distaste for Folsom find it hard to dislike him personally. He is as hearty, friendly, and winning as an overgrown puppy. But he's a pretty wise old dog politically at 40. He has the demagogue's gift of stirring up the people. He won office by going around the countryside with a corn-shuck mop and a pail of suds promising to clean up "the scheming mills in the state capital." He financed his campaign by passing the suds bucket for the people's half dollars and he got them. He also got more votes than any governor in Alabama's history.

Avoids Race Issue
Big Jim has avoided one tactic sometimes employed by southern demagogues—the setting of race, white man against black.

"Nothing built on hate and prejudice can survive—not in a democracy anyway," he said. "There's just no place for it, that's all."

His program calls for lifting the state's "mail box roads" all of the mid and equal educational opportunities for Negroes and white persons.

"Essentially, I want to raise Alabama from a state listed as 44th or 47th or 48th to the national average at least," he said.

Big Jim doesn't care about good grammar any more than he does the niceties of etiquette. He talks the way the people who voted for him do.

Good Man? Or Big Noise?
He has made a mighty sound. There are those who love him. And there are those who wonder, "is he really a good man or just a big noise?"

You can get an argument on that here, either way, at any hour of the day or night.

Being governor hasn't gone to his head in the least. He is too smart for that.

"When my term's over," said Big Jim, "I'll go right back to my own little job—insurance. I never made more in my life than I do now—$6,000. And I'll just be satisfied to go back and make an ordinary living again."

A lot of politicians and business leaders wish he would. But they know that Big Jim is likely to be a power in politics for a long time to come.

"The people want security," said Jim. "But first, and above all, the people want to do what's right." He doesn't feel the "Got Rocks" do.

XXXVI

BY the time Mike came down dressed for dinner, and Aunt Jane bustled in from a final supervision of the dining room and kitchen, Tip and several of Merry's friends, hastily summoned by telephone to meet her visitor from New York, had arrived, and the impromptu party was doing nicely. Merry was proud of Tip and her friends: the girls in pretty, smart summer dinner frocks, the boys in white dinner jackets and dark trousers.

Merry knew before dinner was over that Mike liked her friends and that her friends liked him. She was blissfully happy. It had been silly for her to imagine for a moment that there would be any stiffness between them. Tip and Mike seemed to hit it off perfectly, although when they had first been introduced there had been in each pair of eyes a cool, measuring glance, as though each were saying to the other, "So you're the guy she prefers to me, are you? Well, we'll see about that."

Lizzie was in her element, for she loved company. She couldn't imagine a cook worthy of the name who could be upset by the sudden announcement, less than an hour before dinner time, that there would be half a dozen guests. Lizzie accepted such an announcement as a challenge, and rose joyously to meet it.

Andrew, serving deftly in his immaculate white coat, had a smile that rivalled the starched whiteness of his coat. It was good again to hear young voices, laughter, merriment in the old house.

AFTER dinner, the "rumpus-room," with its smoothly waxed floor, the radio that obligingly gave forth music either "sweet" or "hot" at the turn of a small knob, welcomed them and gave the evening its final touch of merriment. Shortly before midnight, when Aunt Jane, Merry and Mike stood in the big hall upstairs, speeding the parting guests, Tip spoke under his breath to Merry.

"He's quite a guy, Merry—your New York beau."

Merry's face was not with color but she laughed at him.

"How do you talk! He's just a friend who was nice to me in New York and who happened to be passing through."

"Fish-feathers!" said Tip inelegantly. "Passing through my eye, if he was heading for New York! Still, 'most any fellow would drive 300 miles out of the way to say hello to you, Merry!"

Then, after the last guest had gone, when Andrew and Aunt Jane were checking windows and doors and Mike and Merry were alone for a moment at the foot of the stairs, Mike looked down at Merry with a question in his eyes.

"So that was Tip Kennedy who's my competition," he observed thoughtfully.

Merry said hastily, "Don't be silly. Tip and I have been pals since school days."

Mike nodded thoughtfully.

"And that's the most dangerous sort of competition a fellow in my shoes can possibly face. Shared memories; mutual interests; tastes in common; same background." He shook his head and added grimly, "But I'm not giving up, Merry. Not without the fight of a lifetime. I haven't even begun to fight yet."

Aunt Jane came up then, smiling, and saying heartily, "Well, Mike, I imagine you'd like to get some rest after your long drive. It was a nice party, wasn't it?"

"One of the nicest I've ever attended," said Mike so firmly, so warmly that there was conviction in his tone.

Aunt Jane laughed.

"Oh, this was just a spur-of-the-moment, impromptu affair," she told him lightly. "Merry was afraid you'd be bored just with us."

"Merry knows better, Miss Randall."

"I'm Aunt Jane to Merry's friends and mine, Mike. 'Miss Randall' makes me feel as though I were being pursued by a bill-collector."

Mike laughed.

"Thanks, then, Aunt Jane."

"Anyway, you wait until it becomes noised about town that Merry had a visitor from New York; all the pretty girls and their mamas will entertain for you until you'll wonder why you ever thought New York was a mad place," Aunt Jane assured him. "It's an old Marshallville custom; everybody turns out and entertains like crazy for anybody's visitors."

"Somehow, the idea appeals to me a lot," admitted Mike cheerfully.

"Well, you've been duly warned," Aunt Jane assured him as they all went upstairs together and separated at the head of the stairs.

MERRY lay awake for a long time after she had gone to bed. She was excited by the party, she told herself firmly; not because Mike was there. Certainly not! Yet it was fun having Mike in the house. It was going to be fun to show him to the town, and to show the town to him. She had not realized until then how much she had missed him. Or how nice it would be to see him again; to know that he had wanted to see her badly enough to drive 300 miles out of his way. But of course, she told herself hurriedly, that didn't mean a thing. Mike liked to drive; his car was handsome and new and he had time on his hands and the country was lovely at that time of the year and the roads were good. Suddenly she laughed, brushed aside all the hasty "of course's" and admitted warmly and happily that Mike had stopped by because he wanted to see her. That was a nice thing to know. And with the admission she fell asleep at last.

Management Of Home Finances To Be Discussed

Carrollton—A group of Greene county families will meet to make "Blueprints for Tomorrow's Living" on February 10 in the Farm Bureau hall with Miss Catherine Sullivan, the University of Illinois to lead the discussion.

Members of the group who will attend this meeting are those who have kept family account books during 1948 under the plan of the extension service of the University of Illinois. These books have been summarized in the Home Economics Department at the University and farm families can use them as a foundation to make money-management plans for 1949.

During the morning session Miss Sullivan will review trends shown in family accounts and the outlook for 1949 will be covered from the standpoint of what is to be expected in prices and supplies of consumer goods. Also many of the factors which will affect family financial planning in the coming year will be discussed.

In the afternoon session each couple will make their family money-management plan for 1949 and information from their 1948 records will be used as a basis for making these plans of the future. Miss Sullivan will give individual help to each family.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

Cooking School Morsels

It would seem that men are more affected by the ice and snow than are women. At any rate, the number of men attending the cooking school sessions has decreased noticeably during the past two days, while hundreds of women continue flocking to school, some arriving even an hour or more before the doors open.

It takes more than bad weather to keep 'em away. One woman, upon entering the theatre Wednesday morning, remarked, "What do you think of a woman 75 years old coming out in weather like this to attend the cooking school?"

Miss Keefe had a narrow escape when she slipped on the ice on her way to the theatre Wednesday. She was far more fortunate than was Miss Stohr who wears a bandage on her left leg as the result of a fall several weeks ago in Topeka, Kans.

An explosion at the power plant there left the city without electric power. This did away with elevator service in the hotel at which Miss Stohr was staying. As she was approaching the lobby, after walking down eight flights of stairs, she tripped, chipping the bone and tearing lose a couple ligaments in her ankle.

A faulty footlight accounted for added difficulties at Wednesday's session. The trouble seemed to lie in the fact that the bulb was loose and would flick off at intervals, presenting Miss Stohr and Miss Keefe with necessity of leaving what they were doing to attend to the temperamental light.

The attractive little cook book presented everyone who attends the school contains 74 recipes, along with loads of other information relative to the preparation of meat. In the back of the book are recipes for a number of mixes, which can be prepared beforehand and stored in the refrigerator until needed. Having these mixed on hand is especially helpful in making pies and biscuits.

In the mix recipes, it can be noted that different amounts of lard are called for, depending upon the kind of flour used. In this section of the country, hard wheat flour, which requires more shortening, is used. Soft wheat flour is milled almost exclusively in the South, and requires less shortening.

Miss Stohr explained that the purple stamp which appears on meat is of a harmless grape coloring and is either the stamp of the government inspector or the packer's grading mark.

Miss Stohr found it necessary to leave the stage a number of times Thursday morning because of illness. She seems to be developing a bad cold, which isn't a very nice remembrance for her to have of Jacksonville.

Because of Miss Stohr's illness, Miss Keefe was called upon to do double duty Thursday morning. Besides being a very capable assistant, Miss Keefe also proved herself an excellent demonstrator.

Also putting forth a lot of effort to help the show run smoothly are Mrs. Al Angelo and Mrs. Ira Clark, who are on hand in the backstage kitchen.

Two others who contribute a great deal toward the success of the show are Phyllis Nelson Hawk and Mary Jane Ore, who assist Miss Stohr in the Parade of Poods. Both of the girls are attired in similar costumes, featuring white ruffled off-the-shoulder blouses and full skirts. Miss Ore is in an orange shade and Mrs. Hawk's in a deep aqua shade.

The ladies are urged to come early for Friday's session, as this will be the final day of the school. Many valuable prizes are to be awarded.

Two Damage Suits Filed In Circuit Court This Week

Ralph Lewis Ward has filed suit against John Joe Zeller in circuit court, asking $500 damages as the result of a collision between an automobile and a truck tractor on North Main street Oct. 13, 1948.

Ward, through his attorneys, Vaught, Robinson & Foreman, states that his 1940 Ford car was struck by a truck tractor which backed from an alley. He set forth in the suit that the tractor was owned by Zeller and driven by Harry Upchurch.

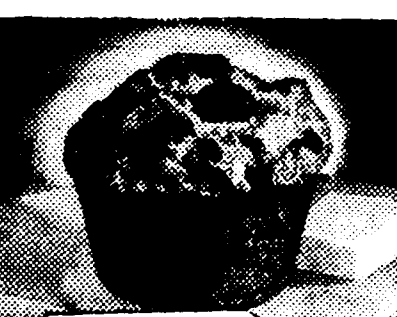

A suit has been filed by Maurice Orris against Albert A. Hall, claiming breach of contract for farming together. Orris claims that they entered into an agreement early in the crop year of 1948, and charges that Hall has not complied with a promise to purchase the plaintiff's share of crops, or to bear half the expense of farming. Damages of $2,500 are sought.

Orris also asked $500 payment for the care and feeding of livestock and for other services. He is represented by Attorneys Edward J. Flynn and Harry G. Story.

To Observe 95th Birthday Sunday

Sunday, January 30th will mark the ninety-fifth birthday anniversary of Mrs. C. C. Switzer. A family dinner in honor of the occasion will be held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herman Martin, 906 South Clay avenue.

SICKNESS CAUSED LOSS OF $1000 SAYS ELDORADO MAN

Mr. R. Winins, 2118 Main St., thanks Rentox for regained health and earning power.

"I have been troubled with arthritis and rheumatism so bad that at times I was hardly able to get up and down and was not able to work. I lost about $1000 in income because of my health. I have been troubled with constipation almost all of my life which caused me to be bloated and gas formed on my stomach. I have had to get up many times during the night which left me tired out the next day. This was all before taking Rentox. After the very first bottle of Rentox the swelling left my hands and the pains in my knees began to ease. My appetite is much better, my bowels are regular and I can now get a good night's sleep without interruption. I can now eat anything without being bothered by gas and bloar. I have tried all of the medicines on the market so I know that Rentox is a wonderful medicine because it is the only one that has helped me."

Why do so many people endorse this great medicine? Well, probably it is because they are grateful for having found a medicine that is just what they needed to put them on the road to good health and contentment. This splendid medicine contains 26 ingredients which go to work quickly to relieve constipation and tone up your system. Helps build rich red blood, aids kidneys and bladder. Expels gas, bloar and ends acid indigestion and heart burn. Rentox will make you look, act and feel like a different person in a very short time. Why not try it today—just go to your drug-gist and ask for a bottle of Rentox. Be sure that you get the genuine Rentox, don't be "switched" to another product.

U. S. Hate Of Germany Dies, Says Editor

Frankfurt—A German editor who toured the United States found that Americans no longer hate the Germans now that Nazism has been destroyed. "But they (the Americans) want to know whether there is still hatred against the Americans in Germany," wrote Heinrich Kierzek in the "Fuldaer Volkszeitung."

Kierzek explains the American attitude towards Germany as follows:

"Taxes in America have increased immensely since the end of the war, sharp border between white and black by his government" and by his taxes that a great part of these taxes are used for the reconstruction of the southern states. There are four million Europeans and Western Germans. Since the Americans practically are paying taxes for us they want to know, naturally, what is done with this money and what the effect among the Germans is."

The German editor wrote: "Many Americans we spoke to wanted to know with an almost anxious solicitude whether the U. S. Military Government in Germany does not make any psychological or political mistakes and whether the GI discipline really is so good." The Fulda editor asks himself "how much stupidity and inability was combined by German politicians to conduct two wars against America."

This thought came after he saw everywhere in the states historical and living signs of active German work which helped America to become this rich and powerful land. Every second or third American we spoke to told us proudly that his mother or his grandfather emigrated from good old Germany," Kierzek wrote, "and leading Americans even today greatly appreciate the constructive and skillful role Germans or their descendants have played during America's political and economic development."

But not everything was "bright and shining" in the USA for Kierzek's watchful eyes. He noted "a sharp border between white and black by his government" and by his taxes that a great part of these taxes are used for the reconstruction of the southern states. There are four million Europeans and Western Germans. Since the Americans practically are paying taxes for us they want to know, naturally, what is done with this money and what the effect among the Germans is."

Morgan's Share Of Proposed U. S. Budget Would Be $11,517,000

If Congress passes the $41.9 billion budget requested by the President, Illinois residents will pay $3.3 billions of the total, and Morgan county taxpayers' share will be $11,517,000.

This is over seven times as much as the $1,622,000 payable in Morgan county in 1948 to cover the costs of schools and city and county government. The figures were revealed Thursday in a comparison of Federal and Illinois taxes published by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

The 1949 Federal spending total will be 6.7 times greater than all spending by the State of Illinois this year. It is also 7.2 times greater than the total property taxes receivable by cities, schools, townships, and all other units of local government in Illinois during 1948.

The State Chamber's tax department says the President's new budget proposal is $41 billions higher than last year's proposal. The money will be collected via the individual income tax, corporation income tax, and other taxes collected by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

"The estimate of $3.3 billion as Illinois' share of the cost of Federal government for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1949 is a minimum figure which is likely to be exceeded," the State Chamber explained in a bulletin to its members. "The $41.9 billion budget figure falls considerably short of representing the entire spending program that is advocated by the President. More billions would be involved if new spending proposals were adopted. Additional amounts are probably in prospect in the form of deficiency and supplemental appropriations that will be added from time to time through the year."

"Furthermore, to the extent that contract authorizations are adopted, additional billions will have to be spent before the work is completed," it was pointed out.

The bulletin said these items have been estimated by various authorities at an additional cost of from $6 billion to $12 billion.

"Any such change in the total would obviously require correspondingly higher taxes from Illinois," the State Chamber reminded.

"Merely a Starting Point"

Referring to the 1948 budget, the State Chamber bulletin recalled that budget proposals are merely a starting point for building up a level of Federal spending. The budget proposed in January 1948, was $37.7 billion, but by the most recent revision, last year's Federal government cost was $40.2 billion, an increase of $2.5 billion over the original budget proposal.

Illinois $3.3 billion share of 1949

Federal government costs would be equivalent to $381 for every man, woman, and child of Illinois or $1,424 per family of four persons.

For individual counties, taxes required to support a $41.9 billion Federal budget range from 2.2 to 10.9 times as much as the total amount of property taxes in each county. The average for all counties is 7.2 times as much.

Congress Has Last Say

"The President's budget proposal is a first step in the development of the Federal spending program," the State Chamber bulletin pointed out. "But the budget will not be enacted in a single document. The nation's spending program will actually be established during the coming months as Congress acts upon various appropriation bills."

"The fact that expenditures are authorized by a series of piecemeal enactments is one key to citizen action."

"There is strong evidence that Federal spending could be safely reduced below the figure of $41.9 billions. But unless we all take more active interest in problems of Federal spending, the budget figure will be increased and Illinois' share of the resulting total cost will be correspondingly more than $3.3 billion."

A GOOD BREAKFAST... A GOOD DAY!

Good nutrition begins with breakfast... you should get one-fourth to one-third of the day's food needs in this first meal of the day. If you miss breakfast, usually you don't make up the difference in the other two meals... So, and especially for the children, have a good breakfast. A good basic pattern consists of fruit, cereal, bread and butter or margarine, with eggs or breakfast meat and coffee or milk.

PMBC Meet At ISD Postponed Due To Inclement Weather

Crimsons Entertain Feitshans Tonight; IC Five To Carthage

Bob Kraushaar's Crimson cage boy mentor indicated that he will crew plays host to Feitshans of Springfield in two cage bouts on the DP boards tonight. The preliminary contest will begin at 6:45 p.m., and the main battle is slated for 8:30.

Stan Spotts, high scoring Jacksonville guard will be seen for the first time in local high school colors. The stocky cager is graduating the end of Jan., and will continue to exploit his athletic prowess at a larger school in the near future.

The Crimsons dropped Feitshans by a 35 to 31 tally at Springfield in the second game on the local crew's card this year. Holding a record of 6 wins and 8 losses, the local lads are primed for a win over the capital-city basketweavers.

Kraushaar issued a tentative lineup with Trotter and Williams at the forwards, Chapman at the pivot post, and Spotts and Todd bringing the ball down the floor from the guard positions.

Millermen Trek To Carthage
Al Miller informs us that he's chartered a bus to take his quint over the icy roads to Carthage for their hoop tussle tonight.

The Blueboys are riding high on a 9 and 5 record so far this season, and are now deadlocked in a three-way tie for fourth place in the C.C.I. loop standings. Elmhurst and North Central College lives are sharing the number four spot with the Millermen.

The Bill Strickland coached Carthage College Redmen are currently reposing in eighth place in the nine team loop. They suffered their three conference set-backs in the hands of Millikin, Wheaton and Illinois Wesleyan outfits, who are now one, two and three in the league. The Carthage aggregation gained their single win from Lake Forest, the cellar-dwelling club.

I.C. Squad Has Fine Spirit
Al Miller reports that his bunch of youthful cagers have been showing great spirit in recent practice sessions, and that moral on the I.C. quintet is the highest he has seen in three years. He predicts great things for the Hilltoppers' remainder of the season.

Dave Billings, reserve guard, has been especially outstanding in practice sessions, and is going to be a hard man to hold off the starting five if he continues to improve at the present rate. However, the Blue-

Peggy Kirk Keeps Up Fast Pace In Golf Tourney

Miami, Fla., Jan. 27.—(P)—Peggy Kirk of Findlay, O., medalist in the 17th annual Helen Lee Doherty golf tournament with a three-under-par 21, continued her blistering pace today as she led the way into the quarter finals.

Miss Kirk cut four strokes off women's par on the first nine with a 34 and trounced Mrs. Frank Fuller of Miami, 8 and 7. The Ohio Miss had six one-putt greens on the 11 holes she needed to advance to the next round.

Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., had to go 9 holes to eliminate Betty McKinnon of Texarkana, Tex., 1-up over the 6,326-yard Miami Country Club course.

Minnesota Meets Illinois In Big Nine Cage Clash

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 27.—(P)—Unbeaten Minnesota, the Big Nine's most accurate team, and Illinois, the league's "shootingest" club, would be meeting before 30,000 fans here Saturday night in Huff gym had rubber walls.

Athletic Director Doug Mills today estimated that at least that many fans are seeking tickets to the conference season's pivotal contest. Huff gym seats a 7,000-capacity.

The scalping price is reported to be two ducats for $30.

The battle-only meeting of the season between the two teams—has national as well as conference prestige at stake.

Minnesota's brilliant Gophers are undefeated in 13 starts, including five league tilts, ranking fifth in the Associated Press nation-wide college cage poll.

Illinois is rated sixth in the AP poll with a 12-1 record, including three straight conference wins. The only Illinois setback was a 60-50 nin-loop loss to De Paul of Chicago in their third game of the season.

To Change Site Of Army-Navy Grid Classic In Future

Philadelphia, Jan. 27.—(P)—A city hall official disclosed today that there's a strong possibility the Army-Navy football game will be played somewhere other than Philadelphia at least once during the next three years.

The service football classic has been played at Philadelphia since 1934, except for a three-year lapse during the war. The contract to play at huge Municipal Stadium ran out after last year's game which ended in a 21-21 tie.

Thomas Buckley, director of public works, said he has been in touch with West Point and Annapolis "in a preliminary way" paving the way for future talks about renewal of a contract.

"Both academies seemed satisfied with playing here," Buckley said, adding that "there has been talk about arranging a three-year contract with one of the games being played somewhere else."

Greene county teams will play at Carrollton Feb. 1-4 in the 23rd Annual Greene County cage tournament. The Carrollton Hawks are the defending champs as they downed Eldred high in the finals last year at White Hall.

After naming the winner of the Winchester tourney last week I will pick Routt to go through and win the PMBC tourney this week at the I.S.D. gym. Coach Eldon Atwood's fighting bunch of Chambersburg cagers will play Routt a good game but the Stroud coached five will emerge the winner. The Mt. Sterling Hornets won the tourney last season after losing the title the two previous years with fine tenets.

Plenty of radio stations will broadcast the 1949 State tourney at the University of Illinois according to officials at Champaign. Identification cards will be provided for each tournament visitor this year and operatives from the Pinkerton agency will be at Champaign to help with the police work at the "Sweet 16" finals this year.

Coach Al Miller's Illinois College Blueboys are back in town for a game at the Westend gym Saturday night with Principia. Tuesday, Feb. 2, Ill. Wesleyan U. will play here and Feb. 3 the North Central five of Naperville. Illinois will play at the I.S.D. gym with the Blueboys. Feb. 26 is the final game of the season and Elmhurst plays at Illinois College on that date.

Report Joe DiMaggio Rejected $10,000 Raise In Salary

New York, Jan. 27.—(P)—Joe DiMaggio was reported today to have turned down a $10,000 raise from the New York Yankees and to be seeking a contract that would make him the highest paid player in baseball history.

Friends mentioned sums like $90,000 and $100,000 but no figures came from the principals.

Following a salary conference yesterday with Yankee officials, DiMaggio said only:

"The Yankees made me an offer. I made no counter offer. My understanding is that after a few days they will call me up and we will have another session. Until then I am not going to say whether it will be a quick or a delayed signing."

"We're Close"—Webb
Del Webb, co-owner of the Yankees, asserted "we're pretty close to coming to terms. I'm sure there won't be any trouble."

The contract offered DiMaggio reportedly called for $55,000 in basic salary, compared to $50,000 a year ago, and a bonus of the Yanks' home attendance exceeds 1,500,000. Last year the Yanks drew 2,400,000 and DiMaggio drew a $25,000 bonus making his aggregate pay for 1948, $75,000.

Joltin' Joe was represented as opposed to the bonus arrangement. He is understood to prefer a higher straight salary and a two-year or longer contract. If offered a longer term contract friends hinted he would sign for years. However, DiMaggio was understood to be ready to ask anywhere between $80,000 and $100,000.

Ruth's Pay Still Taps
The only thing that now seems certain is that the matter probably would be settled by Feb. 7. DiMaggio is slated to leave then for a vacation in Mexico City.

The $80,000 the late Babe Ruth of the Yanks drew for one season back in the early 1930's generally is supposed to be the highest straight salary paid to a baseball player. Bob Feller, Cleveland pitcher, was credited with receiving $82,000 last season under a bonus arrangement. Lou Boudreau, Cleveland manager, was signed on Tuesday to a two-year-old contract, believed to call for $75,000 a year.

Don Wessler Leads Arenzville Quintet To Successful Season

Jack Escorcio, Arenzville high school basketball mentor, has seen his fives cop 70 cage contests while dropping only 8 since 1946 which includes games played to date this season.

The Raider representatives for the '46-47 hoop wars accumulated an impressive record of 32 wins and 2 losses during that winter's conquests. The team, paced by Stanley Lovekamp, dropped one bout early in the season to Virginia, and were whipped again until they bumped into Routt high school in the ISD Regional.

DON WESSLER

Last year, the small Cass county school accumulated 29 consecutive wins before bowing out to the Waverly Scotties in the Virginia Regional. This was by far the best record in this vicinity during the '47-'48 campaign, and was also tops in the school's hardwood record book.

With only one regular, center Don Wessler, returning from last year's final aggregation, Escorcio has seen his boys drop 5 games while garnering 9 victories.

Wessler is hailed as one of the best pivot men in this sector. In 14 games this season the center has netted 279 tallies. Coupled with his scoring ability he possesses exceptional talent in the rebounding, dribbling and defensive departments. Only a junior in scholastic standing, Mr. Wessler has a fine chance receiving all-state recognition.

Coach Escorcio, and his cagers, will play host to this sector's district tournament which opens Feb. 22, and are rated a favorite, along with Eldon Atwood's Chambersburg five.

4 Key Cleveland Indians Balk At Contract Terms

Cleveland, Jan. 27.—(P)—Like everything else these days, a world's championship and an all-time attendance record in baseball come high.

President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians knows because he's already met with rebuffs in attempts to sign four of his key players.

Third baseman Ken Keltner and fireball hurler Bob Feller are the latest to shy away from wet ink or a contract. Others objecting to terms are pitchers Gene Bearden and Bob Lemon, who with Detroit's Hal Newhouser were the only 20-game winners in the American League last season.

"I expected this," Veeck said, "but I really don't look for any serious trouble. Two gone through this before, you know. Trying to sign players after they won a championship, I mean."

"I'm sure they'll come around because they know in the end they'll be well taken care of. They were last year and they know that they will be again. I'm not worrying about them."

Feller and Veeck conferred for an hour and a half at the stadium offices yesterday afternoon but were unable to agree on a bonus clause based on home attendance.

The two plan to meet again Feb. 6 in New York, where they are to attend a baseball writers' banquet.

Keltner called Veeck yesterday from Milwaukee and is believed to have asked for a slightly better offer. Veeck told Keltner he would confer with him in Milwaukee Feb. 12.

Bearden is believed to be holding out for $20,000, an increase of several thousand more than he was offered.

Veeck has received no word from Lemon since his contract was mailed to him for the second time last week. Lemon had returned it unsigned.

Children will enjoy an inflatable, four-foot clown toy made of plastic. It can be used for boxing, wrestling, tackling or in the water. It returns to an upright position when it is pushed and inflates and deflates like a tire.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Chicago, Jan. 27.—(P)—Hogs and cattle turned steady to 50 cents higher today, and sheep were steady although heavy lambs ran into a dull trade and some were unsold at the close of business.

Most good and choice barrows and gilts sold from $17.75 to $21.75 with a top price of $22.00. Sows took $15.50 to $18.00.

The loadlot cattle top was $27.00 but odd head of choice calves yearlings brought up to $39.00. Medium to low-choice steers took $21.50 to $26.00 and medium and good heifers made $21.00 to $24.00. Beef cows sold up to $19.00, sausage bulls to $23.00, and vealers to $34.00.

Lambs grading good and choice sold from $25.00 to $25.40, the day's top, and ewes ranged downward from $11.50.

Receipts on sale included 7,500 hogs, 3,000 cattle, 400 calves, and 2,500 sheep.

GRAINS STAGE RALLY AFTER EARLIER DROP TO RECORD LOWS

Chicago, Jan. 27.—(P)—A rally got underway in grains today after prices had slumped to new lows on the downturn of the past several weeks. Commission house buying and short-covering sparked the upturn, which was led by wheat.

The market was nervous during early dealing but took on strength after the mid-way point. In early trade all oats contracts went to new lows since trading in these various deliveries started. May wheat touched its low since Oct. 22, 1948.

Traders thought the rally was in part technical, stating the market had apparently been oversold. Buying followed news that the United States wanted a $200 bushel wheat maximum in any new international wheat agreement. Earlier, the British delegation had asked for a lower maximum.

Receipts were: Wheat 10 cars, corn 250, oats 11 and soybeans 4.

Wheat closed 1-11 higher, May $2.20-1/2, corn was 3-11 higher, May $1.48-1/2, oats were 5-11 higher, May 71-71 1/2, soybeans were 11 to 2 cents higher, March $24.61-3, and lard was 15 to 25 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $14.82-1/4-85.

New York Stock Market

New York, Jan. 27.—(P)—A mid-day rally pivoting around U. S. Steel started stocks climbing today after a fairly deep morning session.

Losses had piled up as much as 2 points or so when the tide began turning and "Big Steel" started to rise, pulling many other issues with it.

The rally was not quite sufficient, however, to erase many losses and there were more minus than plus signs over the list. Nevertheless, the recovery seemed to be taking a general grip and most depressed issues had gained fairly well over the day's lows.

U. S. Steel gained 41 points yesterday following news of the company's special dividend and stock split-up proposal. The market failed to respond further this morning, and U. S. Steel dipped a full point at one time before it began to climb. At the start of the final hour it had wiped out the morning loss and gained an additional 8.

Youngstown Steel, off 2 at one time, took the hint, made up the loss and swung over into the plus column. Others higher were Bethlehem Steel, whose directors meet later today to take some dividend action, Case, Consolidated Edison, Johns Manville and General Electric.

Some Wall Streeters said the late upturn was the result of delayed response to U. S. Steel's "good news" announcement. Earlier, financial quarters had expressed disappointment that there was so little public response today to the big upturn in U. S. Steel yesterday.

Among those still on the minus side of the fence were National Steel, Inland, Chrysler, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, and Westinghouse.

Corporate bonds moved narrowly. U. S. government issues held steady in over-the-counter dealings.

Saigh Buys Cards From Hannigan In Big Money Deal

St. Louis, Jan. 27.—(P)—Fred M. Saigh Jr., became president and majority stockholder of the St. Louis Cardinals today by buying out his partner, former Postmaster General Robert E. Hannigan.

Hannigan told a news conference he was selling his interest in the far-flung Cardinal organization and stepping down as its president for reasons of health.

The 43-year-old Saigh, rapidly building a reputation as a master of high finance, announced plans for streamlining the organization by delegating more authority to employees. He said he planned no changes in personnel.

Saigh disclosed that he now owns about 90 per cent of the Cardinal stock.

Neither Hannigan nor Saigh would say how much money changed hands in the deal. Unofficial estimates of the amount Hannigan received ranged from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

Fourteen months ago they bought the club from Sam Breadon for a reported sum of $4,600,000, with Saigh becoming vice president and treasurer.

Hannigan underwent an operation for hypertension about two years ago.

Saigh, an attorney who attended Bradley and Northwestern universities, has acquired large property holdings in downtown St. Louis during the past few years.

Contracts Indicate Lush Baseball Days Are Over

New York, Jan. 27.—(P)—Are the lush days in baseball over? Will the attendances which have skyrocketed the past few years begin to level off in 1949?

These questions are being asked today following disclosure that Joe DiMaggio and Bob Feller, two of the game's highest salaried performers, have rejected terms based on bonus arrangements.

The star New York Yankee outfielder and the fireball Cleveland hurler are reluctant to gamble on the attendance clauses providing for extra payments.

DiMaggio met with General Manager George Weiss and Co-Owners Dan Topping and Del Webb in a three-hour conference in the Yankee offices yesterday. Later it was announced the Yankee Clipper wished to study the terms and that another meeting would be arranged within a few days.

"The Yankees made me an offer," Joe said, "I made them no counter offer. I simply want time to consider their bid."

SICILY PLANS RAILWAY PROJECT

Rome.—(P)—A ten-year program costing 33,485,000,000 lire ($55,763,000) to bring Sicily's outdated and war-shattered railways up to modern standards was disclosed recently by the Transport Ministry.

The new project includes electrification of the whole Sicilian railway system. Some 398 kilometers of track must be replaced.

Will Stage Semi-Finals Friday Night, Finals Saturday Afternoon

The PMBC tournament fell victim to bad weather conditions, along with a multitude of other activities in Jacksonville yesterday afternoon and evening. Spike Wilson, coach of the host I.S.D. five announced early Thursday P.M. that the two out-of-town teams, Mt. Sterling and Chambersburg, who were to oppose the two local quintets in the semi-finals last night, could not make the trip to I.S.D. due to icy roads, and the meet would be forced into cancellation for the evening.

Weather permitting, the semi-final bouts will be played off this evening with the first game between I.S.D. and Mt. Sterling getting under way at 7:15 p.m. and the start at 8:45.

The ice storms that descended on Jacksonville and vicinity Monday morning had forced the first round contests to be played before very sparse crowds Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The spacious I.S.D. gymnasium was not filled to capacity for any of the initial four elimination frays. Tourney officials fear that this annual event will sink into the red if present weather conditions prevail.

May Day Finals Set P.M.
Plans for the consolation and Championship bouts have not been completed. The Illinois College Blueboys will entertain the Princeton basketball team at I.S.D. Saturday evening, and the tentative schedule for the PMBC play-off indicates Saturday afternoon as the most logical time for the finals.

20 Detroit Tigers Already Signed For '49 Season

Detroit, Jan. 27.—(P)—The Detroit Tigers who finished fifth in last year's American League pennant race, are up among the leaders this winter in whipping together their roster for the start of spring training March 1.

With more than a month to go before opening camp under manager Robert (Red) Rolfe in Lakeland, Fla., the Tigers today counted 20 players signed up for the 1949 season. The training camp squad will number about 38.

Latest to agree to terms was outfielder Dick Wakefield, who came in yesterday from Ann Arbor, where he just completed his undergraduate work at the University of Michigan, and brought his signed contract with him.

Although no announcement was made regarding Wakefield's salary, it was assumed he accepted the maximum 25 per cent cut and signed for approximately $20,000.

Last year in 110 games Dick batted .276, a mark far below the .356 he hit in 1944 after he returned from the navy in mid-season. He hasn't approached that figure since and his salary, dwindling with his batting average, now is only about half his peak earnings of 1946, estimated then at $37,500.

These questions are being asked today following disclosure that Joe DiMaggio and Bob Feller, two of the game's highest salaried performers, have rejected terms based on bonus arrangements.

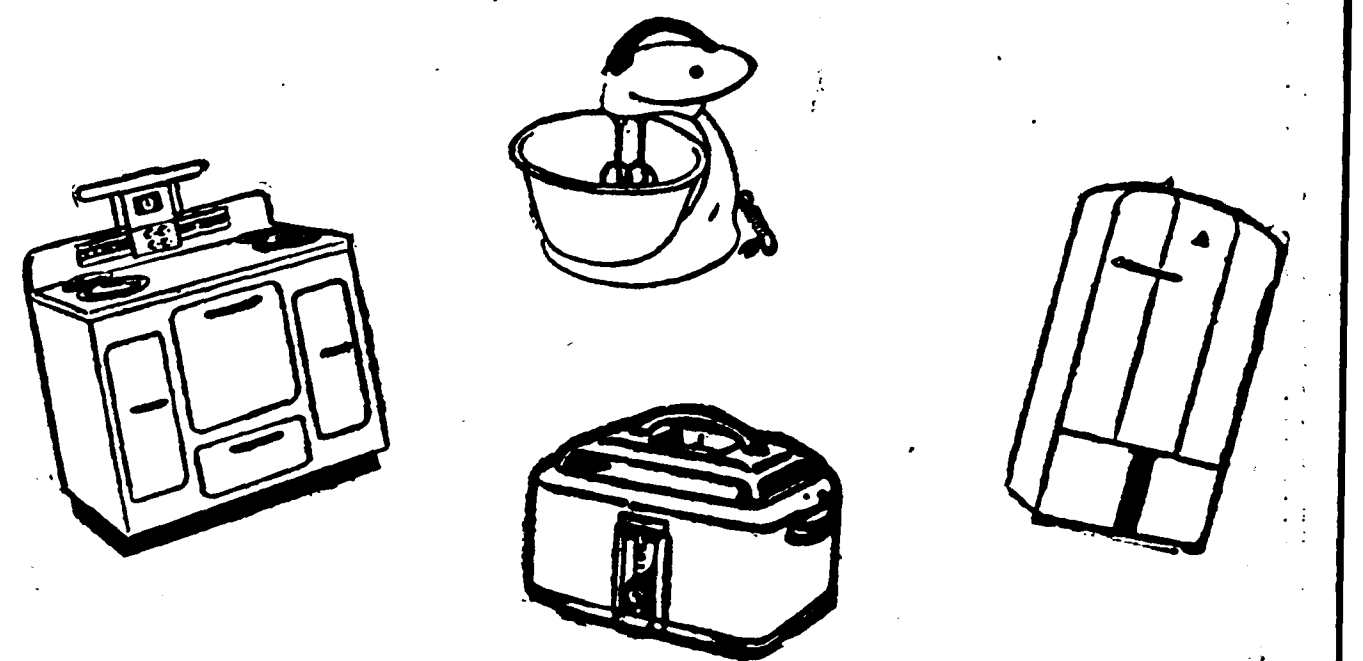

The star New York Yankee outfielder and the fireball Cleveland hurler are reluctant to gamble on the attendance clauses providing for extra payments.

Ice, Rain And Winds On Thursday's Menu; Winds, Colder Today

The Jacksonville area Thursday experienced another chapter of a long, and monotonous, story—the weather. The residents awoke to find the countryside, and all its contents, plastered with ice. The rain continued through most of the day but the thermometer climbed a notch or two to discourage any further ice formation.

'SUGAR AND RICE BEATS HOGS AND ICE'

By the Journal Courier Farm Editor

That's the verdict of two young Louisiana planters who visited Morgan county this week.

They were keenly interested in the methods used by the progressive farmers of this area. They looked the country over and asked a lot of questions.

They agreed with most of the answers. But they couldn't believe that a purebred hog "would sell for as much as $300." So they attended the Martin Spotted Poland China auction held in Alexander, Tuesday.

They were rapidly convinced when they saw three giltys bring $315, $305 and $425 respectively. When they learned that the herd book was purchased by the Martins for more than $2,500 they had to take a look at him.

Inspect Herd Boar

The photograph shows the visitors, two young Alexander farmers who answered a host of questions during the afternoon and Grandview Victory. The men are, left to right, Luke Zeller, Stanley B. Read of Bunkie, La., Bob Zeller and Marvin Newton, also of Bunkie, Grandview Victory sires on a foot-deep layer of straw.

"Guess it won't cost anything to point at him, but that's about as far as I want to go," Marvin asserted. Bob followed suit to prove that pointing at a topflight boar wouldn't hurt anything.

Although they both live in Avoyelles parish, the two men are engaged in different agricultural specialties. Marvin raises sugar cane; Stanley raises rice.

Both report that the more level farms of the south are being mechanized at a rather rapid speed. The soil is a sandy loam, mighty fertile when its phosphorus deficiency is corrected. About 400 pounds of superphosphate per acre is needed annually to produce a fat crop.

Marvin raised 462 acres of cane last year. He's got a little in September more than that planted for 1949. Planting is done in September by laying cane stalks in trenches six feet apart. Each joint pushes up a bud, a month or so later.

By the first of March the plant begins to flourish. Farm and tractor cultivators work the ground until the middle of July. During that time the rows receive a side-dressing of 200 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre.

Mechanical Changes

Harvesting begins about Oct. 15. Specially designed equipment now takes a lot of the labor out of this operation. The Newton crop is raised for syrup. A yield of 35-37 tons per acre is considered good. Each ton produces 22-25 gallons of syrup.

The leaves must be removed from the stalks if the crop goes into sugar. This was a very tedious and time-consuming job. A flame thrower is now used to burn off the dry leaves just before the stalk is cut and banded.

Dr. Ralph Robbins To Present Piano Recital Sunday

Dr. Ralph Robbins, professor of piano and theory at MacMurray College, will be heard in his annual faculty recital at 4 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 30, at Music Hall.

Dr. Robbins needs little introduction to Jacksonville audiences. He is a native of the state of Illinois, studied music at the Eastman School and on the European continent, receiving his doctorate from the University of Berlin. He has been a member of the MacMurray college music faculty since 1942.

For the first half of his program Dr. Robbins has chosen two piano sonatas by Beethoven. The first of these, op. 29, is one of the composer's earlier works and will, in its brightness and simplicity, remind many listeners of Mozart. The second, opus 106, also known as the "Hammerklavier-Sonata" is considered one of the most complex of Beethoven's compositions, since it is almost symphonic in its breadth and scope.

In fact, critics feel that Beethoven wrote it for an instrument that existed solely in the composer's own imagination and which combined certain characteristics of the conventional piano with those of other keyboard instruments.

Pianists rarely undertake to present this sonata in recital, and all friends of music in this area will welcome the opportunity to listen to Dr. Robbins' interpretation of it.

For the first half of his program, Dr. Robbins will play the solo part in Chopin's second piano concerto in G-minor. He will be assisted by Miss Shirley Lewis who will handle the orchestral accompaniment on the second piano.

Cooking School Draws Attendance Of 700 At 3rd Session Thursday

By MARI KALER

The highlight of Thursday's session of the Journal Courier Food Festival School of Cookery came after the intermission when a meat quiz was conducted by the cooking school hostess, Miss Edalene Stohr.

The quiz, which was comprised of a number of questions relative to the preparation of and the food values contained in meat, was won by Mrs. J. W. Thorneycroft, 1127 South East street. She received a handsome cutlery set.

The other three contestants, Mrs. Carl Pearson, 242 Caldwell street, Miss Margaret Caldwell of Alexander, and Mrs. E. C. Masters of Virginia, all received meat thermometers.

Unfavorable weather again an impediment, more than 700 women, nevertheless braved the ice and cold to attend the school.

Many Suggestions Submitted

As the women filed into the theatre, many of them had slips of paper bearing household hints which they dropped into a box in the lobby. These suggestions will be judged by Miss Stohr and her assistant, Miss Doris Keefe, and a prize will be awarded to the woman whose entry is considered best.

The prize for this will be awarded at the final session Friday, at which time numerous other valuable gifts will also be awarded, along with the many daily prizes, including the foods prepared during the school.

Miss Stohr, after being introduced by Robert A. Fay, master of ceremonies, began her lecture Thursday by reviewing a recent survey conducted by the National Live Stock and Meat Board, with which both she and Miss Keefe are affiliated.

Two-Year Survey

The survey was conducted in two orphanages over a two-year period. In one orphanage, the children were fed a balanced diet, with most of their proteins coming from meat sources, while in the other institution, although
